Columbia's Comfort Services Provides 24-Hour Air Conditioning Repair, Service

Columbia air conditioning and heating company offers emergency air conditioning repair anytime day or night as well as regular air conditioning maintenance and installation.

Columbia, SC, September 12, 2011 —As the South Carolina temperatures continue to stay warm, Columbia area residents can obtain air conditioning repair and maintenance when they need it, day or night, with Comfort Services 24-hour emergency services. The local heating and air conditioning company makes around-the-clock home or business visits in Lexington, Irmo and Columbia, SC.

Home residents and business owners require a properly working air conditioning in order to stay comfortable and safe. Air conditioners do not always choose the most convenient time of day to break down, which is why Comfort Services offers 24-hour visits, eliminating the hassle of sweating it through the night, or entering a business to find it is too hot for customers.

Many residents and business owners attempt to fix the air conditioning themselves when there are problems in the middle of the night, but they can often do more harm than good, resulting in costly repairs. With professional AC repair, customers can prevent unnecessary damage and costs and instead get cooler faster.

From new AC installation to repair and maintenance, the Comfort Services team of experts will ensure customers are comfortable as soon as possible. When emergency care is not necessary, Comfort Services sets up an appointment that is convenient for the customer.

“With more than 30 years of experience in the heating and cooling industry, we know what our customers need---expert maintenance, installation and emergency repair they can receive any time day or night,” said Todd Wagstaff. “Our expert team enjoys providing the air conditioning maintenance to keep things running smoothly, but we are also happy to fly in to save the day or night when necessary.”
